Nova Serrana is a quiet city tucked amidst the rugged terrain of southeast Brazil, where some of the world's most active soapstone quarries can be found. Known for its earthy, elegant appearance, soapstone is widely used in décor and can be found in a variety of tones. Soapstone has been used for centuries, elevating the presence of everything from historic baroque architecture to contemporary art. Nova Serrana from Wilsonart® Quartz combines the look and feel of shadowy soapstone with the enduring performance of quartz and a natural matte finish. Start exploring the depths of an intriguing background, delicate vein structure, and innovative matte texture.
