LD Seating

LD Seating's long-term collaboration with Italian studio Orlandini Design began in 2011 with the Flexi series. When founder Jitka Hurábová first encountered the concept, she was intrigued but cautious. Over time, the idea proved its strength. Flexi launched in 2014 and became a lasting bestseller.

The partnership continues today, led by father and son Paolo and Folco Orlandini, whose pragmatic approach to design has shaped not only the Flexi family but also other successful collections like Melody and Nido.

Known for their clean, purposeful style, Orlandini Design has received numerous international honors, including the Red Dot Award, German Design Award, iF Design Award, Interior Design HIP Award and Best of Neocon.

Their work is defined by sleek silhouettes, thoughtful proportions and a focus on function. Each collection is created with real spaces in mind, where design has to deliver, day in and day out.

Folco Orlandini

Designer, Orlandini Design

Originally from Grosseto, Italy, Folco Orlandini studied industrial design at the Politecnico di Milano. In 2009, he co-founded Orlandini Design with his father Paolo, combining decades of experience with a sharp focus on new materials, technologies and design culture.

The studio works across residential, contract and office sectors, with a style defined by clean lines and technical precision. Every project reflects a deep understanding of manufacturing processes and a practical ability to translate ideas into products that are not only refined and reliable but also ready for real-world use.
